Once upon a time, an old carpenter bought a very queer piece of wood. As he used his plane on it, he heard a little laughing voice say, "Stop! You are tickling me."

The old man was puzzled by the voice.

He said, "This is a strange piece of wood. What shall I do with it? I think. I'll make it into a puppet."

He set to work, and as the puppet boy took shape, the old man said, "He must have a name. I will call him Pinocchio."

As soon as he finished making the eyes, the carpenter was amazed to see them move.

Before the mouth was made, it began to laugh.

"Stop laughing!" the old man said.

It did stop, but as soon as his back was turned, it put out its tongue. And its nose grew long.

No sooner were its hands ready then it snatched off the carpenter's wig and put it on its own head. And then Pinocchio's nose grew longer.
